

GSD User Agreement

Every government program must acquire a unique User ID/Password, therefore ASPO is requesting that each government point-of-contact monitor the password issued to his/her program to ensure that it is not used by anyone outside of his/her program. Therefore, we are requesting each government point-of-contact sign the following agreement.

I, _____, as the government point-of-contact for the _____ program, assume responsibility for the regulation and distribution of the GSD User ID/Password that has been issued to my program. In doing this I take responsibility to ensure this User ID/Password, and all GSD software, is utilized solely by those associated with my program.

I understand that I am responsible for safeguarding my program password and I will not distribute it outside my program. Further, I understand that distribution of GSD is restricted under U.S. Export Law and I will not distribute GSD, directly or indirectly such as via the user ID and password, to non-U.S. persons. Should any member of my program distribute any GSD technical data, including the user ID and password, software, and documentation, to unauthorized persons, I understand that future GSD support will be null and void.

I understand that being granted permission by the Army Space Program Office to use the GSD software within my program entitles the program to use the core software capabilities and receive technical support via the GSD help desk at no cost. However, I understand that should my program require additional support, including but not limited to the development of software enhancements or onsite installation and/or technical support, arrangements for this support will have to be coordinated through the Army Space Program Office and may involve some cost to my program.
